Experimenting With Colours

Written By:

L.A

Over the past couple of days the children in the group have been identifying different colours within the environment so I wanted to extend on this experience by introducing a colour mixing experiment to each child. While outside today I set up the paint easel near the table along with 3 paint pots of yellow, blue and red.

As I was setting up Kelly stood watching me. "I like painting, is it my turn to paint". Kelly called over to Roger "Hey, want to paint with me", Roger walked over to Kelly to where the easel was set up and picked up a paintbrush. He watched Kelly make a circle on the piece of paper in yellow paint. Roger dipped his paintbrush in the blue paint and traced around Kelly's circle. "Why did you do that" Kelly asked. Roger smiled "I made green" he commented. Kelly laughed "cool, I want to make more, you use blue and I use red" Kelly instructed. Roger blobbed the blue paint onto the paper and Kelly mixed in the red "hey, I made purple" Kelly said. Kelly picked up another paintbrush, one in each hand and dipped it in each of the yellow and blue paints and began to make large circles onto the paper "I can make green too" she said to Roger. Kelly unclipped her paper from the easel and put it on the floor "I want to take it home when it dries" Kelly said.

Analysis of Learning: What did the child/group do and understand during this experience?

Through this experience I observed you Kelly have a strong sense of wellbeing and are a confident and involved learner. You work corroboratively with others, you made new discoveries and recognize the contributions you made to shared projects.

Extension of Learning: What opportunities will you provide to extend on this experience?

To extend on this learning experience we will set up a marble painting experience which will enable Kelly to continue experimenting with mixing colours together.
