How Was/Wasn't The Goal Achieved?

The Preschool children each got a card with the letters of their name. They each had a turn using a rod to "fish" for the letter that starts with their name. When they were given a name card each child was asked to read the letters. They each called out the letters in their name. Each child was able to identify the letters and say each letter sound clearly. From there, each child was given a rod to fish for the beginning letter of their name.
