

Celebrating my Achievements

Think left and think right, think low and think high

Oh the thinks you can think when you try!

We're really proud of what you have achieved!

Maya, over this year I have seen you flourish into a bright, independent and enthusiastic girl and I have had the pleasure of observing your many achievements that you have accomplished throughout the year. One of the biggest achievements is toileting, which only took a week to get you to use the big toilet. You are quite the independent girl and persevere in tasks without the assistance of others. You have found an interest in cutting and use this skill to cut pieces of paper. You are also keen on puzzles and able to complete them unassisted. Matching pictures, reading simple words, counting to 50, identifying letters and numbers. You have also developed self help skills such as washing your hands, pouring water into your cup, screwing and unscrewing lids from a drink bottle, taking your shoes off, opening a popper and being a great helper all around! These are only some of your achievements which I would like to celebrate with you! So proud!
