

Associative Play

When the child is interested in the people playing but not in coordinating their activities with those people, or when there is no organized activity at all.