

The third little pig thought that bricks would make a strong house.