

Coral

Coral reefs are naturally colorful because of algae, which lives inside of the coral, providing them with food.

