

During the festival, you might see complicated designs called rangoli.

They're usually on the ground or on the floor.

They are made using coloured rice or powder and they are said to bring good luck.